

Exploratory Questions

- How do uninsurance rates vary among demographics such as race, age, sex, population, income, and educational attainment level?
- How does access to health care vary at a national level and by county?
- How does access to health care vary among Minnesota counties?
- Do rates of uninsurance vary based on offered coverage types?
- Does the rate of uninsurance vary for individuals based on the number of hospitals in their county?
- Can we predict which areas will have more or less coverage based on demographics, income, hospital count, or other factors?
- For those who are covered, is their coverage sufficient for their health needs?